< I'm a graduate student at the university, about a year ago I decided to change my profession. I have become passionate about programming and especially in Web Development as this field involves unlimited opportunities for professional growth. Until now I have learned significant number of features of this field and I hope to gain more knowledge and streghen my skills with the help of rs school. I believe that my hard working ability and passion for learning new things lead me to become a proficient Frontend Developer. />
